House of 345 m² constructed, located on a plot of 548 m².

Built in 2013. Currently used as an office, although it would not require much work to adapt it back to housing, given the good materials and distribution of the spaces. With many distribution options, it currently has a ground and ground floor plus a very bright open-plan attic with velux on the roof and bathroom, also a/c. In addition, it has a basement with direct access from the outside so that it can also be used as a flat or guest area or independent service. The garden is spacious, in its moment it had a swimming pool that nowadays is not there, as the property replaced it by a parking area, but it could be put again, without any problem. The orientation of the property is very good, it has a lot of light, something very characteristic of the property. Can you imagine living here?
