The apartment, located on the first floor of a stately, classic-style building, features a living-dining room with balconies overlooking Jorge Juan Street, a fully equipped kitchen with an island connected to the living room, and three double bedrooms, two with en-suite bathrooms and a third separate bathroom. It also includes air conditioning and heating. The Salamanca district is one of Madrid's most prestigious areas, both for its unique layout and the residents who have traditionally inhabited its iconic streets. Its construction dates back to the second half of the 19th century and corresponds to the urban expansion carried out during the reign of Isabella II. Its buildings are of particular interest thanks to their architectural quality and the beauty of their facades. Can you imagine living
