The house has 146 m2 built, of which 118 m2 correspond to living area, offering an excellent opportunity both for those who wish to design an exclusive, tailor-made residence and for investors looking for a property with great revaluation potential in one of the most sought-after areas of Madrid. The property currently has five bedrooms, two full bathrooms, a large separate living room and kitchen. Two of the bedrooms are exterior and have views of the street, bringing natural luminosity and the urban character of the historic center of Madrid. The rest of the rooms are oriented to a spacious and quiet courtyard, providing silence, privacy and a pleasant feeling of comfort in the heart of the city. All rooms have windows, ensuring cross ventilation and abundant natural light throughout the day. Thanks to its spaciousness and distribution, the house offers multiple possibilities for reform and redistribution, allowing each space to be adapted to the needs of the future owner and create a modern home without losing the original architectural essence.
