Some homes stand out for their features, while others captivate you through the way they make you feel.

This property brings both qualities together. Located in Génova, one of Palma's most peaceful and charming residential areas, this magnificent detached house offers a privileged lifestyle, where privacy, comfort and proximity to the sea take centre stage. Just a five-minute walk from the beach, it enjoys a peaceful residential setting close to supermarkets and schools, with lovely views of the sea and the iconic Bellver Castle. Built in 2007 with particular attention to every detail, the house was personally designed and supervised by its owner, a construction site manager, who prioritised solid construction, first-class materials and carefully considered solutions to ensure year-round comfort. Teak wood, featured throughout the house, brings warmth and character to the interiors, while its architecture, arranged over different levels, makes the most of natural light and helps maintain a pleasant temperature in both summer and winter. With 320.75 sqm of built area, plus a 42.76 sqm covered porch, and set on a 446.30 sqm plot, the property offers...
